Editorial

Wasn't it great to be back again? How did you cope; did you have any withdrawal symptoms?

May I thank all of you who turned up on the 19th August for our first Coffee Morning for two weeks, it was good to be back and very pleasing to see all the regulars again. There was just a slight hint of new paint but not enough to cause any problems. We can now get down to business and look forward to our 10th Anniversary we have still to make plans for the Celebration Do.

General Information

At the first Committee Meeting held after the Annual General Meeting the Officers for 2009/10 were elected, the results were as follows: -

Chairman: - Tony Webb

Vice-Chair: - Fay Burston

Both Tony and Fay are now serving their third term and at the end of March 2010 they will be standing down. This means we will need nominations for both a new Chairman and a Vice-Chairman come the next A. G. M. in 2010, so now is a good time to start giving it some thought.

Hon. Secretary: - Ken Burston

Hon. Treasurer: - Pauline Chapman

Joint Membership Secretaries: - Carole Loveridge
Jean Williams

Fay Burston, assisted from time to time by Carole Loveridge and Jean Williams, filled the position that was held previously by Beryl Bryant. We felt that now would be a good time to have a change and both Carole and Jean indicated that they would be prepared to fill the position, but not on a full time basis; it was therefore proposed they hold the position jointly. The Committee agreed that this was a good idea and the proposal was accepted unanimously.

The remaining members of the Committee are: -

Beryl Bryant, Roy Bryant, Phil Lyes and Ray Reddish.

May we, the Committee, thank you all for your support in the past and say we look forward to it continuing throughout 2009.

Before we go any further I need to make an apology; in the last issue of the Magazine there was some miss-information; I am afraid we suffered what is commonly called a 'senior moment'. It was announced on Page 4 we were to have an American Picnic it said it would be held in August---it wasn't--- it was in July. On page 9 there were details about the forthcoming event but no mention of the date. Sorry!!

Irrespective of the lack of information the American Picnic was held, there is a report on Page 9.

Group News---A New Group?

At Committee Meetings 'a frequently asked question' is could we find someone who would be prepared to form a new group/s and recently Ray Reddish mentioned that he had been approached by a member/s concerning the possibility of us taking up curling. Curling? But that's played on ice.

Apparently Curling, that held on ice, has been adapted so that it can now be played on any indoor surface. A few years ago a father was asked by his disabled son to find a sport that he and other disabled people could play. It so happened dad had been watching, on TV, some Curling Championships and he came up with the idea of adapting it so that it could be played on a solid surface, instead of ice. The result was that 'New Age Kurling,' spelt with a 'K', was born.

Carole Loveridge offered to find out more about the sport and located a club in the Bristol area that now plays the sport and from what she had learned it was quite possible we too could seriously consider taking it up. I have been in touch with the company called 'New Age Kurling' that markets the equipment and have received details covering the Rules and kits e.g. the stones, targets and other paraphernalia.

So who knows? We may be able to announce the start of a new group before too long, it is a sport that all ages can play, even those who may be disabled or who are not as agile as they used to be.

During our sabbatical the Thursday Art Group has been flying the flag for us by collecting awards at local flower shows.

At the East Huntspill Show Trevor Dinham (who is also a member of their Art Club) had entered 2 classes and won first prize in the Class for Art Club members only; his watercolour of the River Brue at Merry Lane, Bason Bridge won him 1st prize.

In the Open Class our successful members were: Ron Turner 2nd for a watercolour of a farmyard scene and Brian Hughes won a 3rd with an oil painting of a "Market in Crater" Aden, a scene he photographed in the 1960's when in the forces.

At the West Huntspill Annual Show the Thursday group took 6 of the 9 prizes; in class 91 for oil paintings Brian Hughes took 1st for a Woolavington country lane scene, Trevor Dinham took 2nd for his stormy sea. In class 92 for watercolours Ron Turner had a 2nd for a farmyard scene and Pauline Chapman a 3rd for her painting of the head of an African woman. Class 93 saw Brian Hughes gaining another 1st for an acrylic painting of Poppies and Pam Butler gained 2nd for a pastel of a white horses' head.

The successes can be attributed to Jean Berry their tutor who has spent a lot of time coaching the group, who are now reaping their rewards. Because the paintings have been displayed at the shows some of the group have been successful in selling their pictures, further encouragement to try and produce even better works of art.

Jean has, for some time, stressed that the group should get experience at sketching/painting outdoors so they arranged to meet at the Middlemoor Water Park for an afternoons painting. Five members made it, but it had rained earlier and did not look too promising. Having just about set everything up it rained, so back into the cars, it stopped, so try again. The storm cloud formation was perfect for painting, quick take a photo! Half an hour went by and it rained again, oh well let's pack up and try another day, we adjourned to the clubhouse for a cup of tea and then left; right into a deluge---it poured. Never mind we have tried and will fix a new date for later in the year.

U3A Diaries for 2010

These are available from the Secretary and cost £1.90

A small quantity was ordered so do not delay if you need one.

Stories/Items for the magazine

I am frequently looking for stories/write-ups from members for inclusion in the magazine and I do struggle occasionally to find items that may be of interest. A short time ago, upon learning that some members have just been to or are about to go to exotic places I asked them to let me have details for future issues. The response from members has been wonderful, thanks.

Janet Holderness, who loves to holiday in Africa, has given me an account of her recent trip to Tanzania, I am hoping that Ron Fulcher will give me details soon of his recent holiday and Carole Loveridge is, I hope, going to provide me with some interesting tails about her present trip to China, Tibet and Nepal.

A Good Samaritan? ---Phyllis Walsh

We knew that Sunday July 5th 2009 was going to be a busy day with so many different events taking place.

First there was the church service at Highbridge for the new and past recipients of the Civic Awards. It would be very well attended with limited parking spaces thus requiring us to park some distance from the church. This in itself presented a problem as my husband has walking difficulties.

After the service we left to attend the dog show at Manor Gardens, it was not for 'pampered pooches' but everyday 'pals' and was always inspiring. However, things did not go according to plan---upon arriving at our car we saw dangling tantalisingly in the ignition-----THE CAR KEYS and the car safely locked all round. We looked around hoping to see a familiar face but no luck, whilst deliberating our next move a stranger came along to collect her car and she recognised us from the Civic Award Service. Upon hearing of our plight she offered to take us to Burnham to the dog show but first she had to visit a friend in Highbridge (unfortunately not near where we lived).

Knowing we could count on the help of a good friend in Burnham for the return leg to Highbridge we were happy to wait.

Eventually we arrived at the home of our friend in Burnham to find that she was watching the men's' tennis final. We explained our plight and, seeing the time, realised we had missed the dog show. Our friend willingly gave up watching the tennis and drove us back to our home in Highbridge whereupon we picked up the spare car keys and she then drove back to our car.

Although we lost out on the dog show we had found a new friend in the Good Samaritan. In retrospect it reminded us that friends and strangers are good neighbours and we should be grateful that there are these people around; all going to make up the good community in which we live.

Age of Steam---Happy Days

On Sunday mornings at about 10.30 the steam locomotive can be heard passing through Highbridge and it reminds me of the 12 years during which I used to catch the train to school and then later on to work. So when we heard that the A1 Class loco, 60163 the "Tornado" was going to be on the West Somerset Railway for 10 days we quickly booked a ride. So on Wednesday 10th June we motored over to Bishops Lydeard to catch the 11.40 to Minehead.

Race for Life---Sally Williams & Vour Orchard

On Saturday 25th July we made our way to Millfield School, Street to take part in Cancer Research UK's fundraising event. For a change the weather was kind to us, approx. 2,000 women of all ages, shapes and sizes took part. We wore official pink tee shirts and numbers, mine was enormous and could have gone round me several times--- but did it matter---no.

We had a 20-minute warm up session before starting, after which we were put into our groups; runners, joggers and walkers. Needless to say we elected to walk which was the largest group, I wonder why! The runners started first followed by the joggers and lastly the walkers bringing up the rear.

We all displayed names of 'dear ones' on our backs and it was very humbling to see so many poignant messages and photos. We were cheered and clapped en route by supporters and we were so pleased to see Sandy and Bernard (Martin) urging us on. When we saw the finishing line and photos being taken we decided to make a supreme effort and ran to the end.

It was a wonderful experience to be part of so many women coming together and doing their own thing for such a worthwhile cause.

It is a beautiful piece of engineering, proving we are still able to build these great engines; the journey brought back memories of the hours I used to spend travelling on the railway years ago. My experiences started in 1939 often you did not know if your train would be on time or even turn up, you met a variety of travellers, many being service men coming home or going back to their units. By the time Beeching appeared and cast his shadow on the railways I had re-located and had ceased to travel on the railway, but I did miss the steam engines.

American Picnic

Yes, it was held, at the Middlemoor Water Park near Woolavington on Monday 20th July and, although it was not a very bright day, a good crowd turned up.

The owners of the Park gave us permission to hold the event indoors because we did not have a lot of faith in the weather forecast (does anyone these days?). It did not rain but everyone was happy to be under cover just in case. Members had prepared a good selection of typical picnic fare and this was laid on the billiard table, over which had been spread a large cloth.

There was a wide variety of savouries, pork pies, sausage rolls, quiche plus a selection of sandwiches and large salad bowl and for afters there were the usual sweet items, cheesecakes, gateau etc.

Stop Press

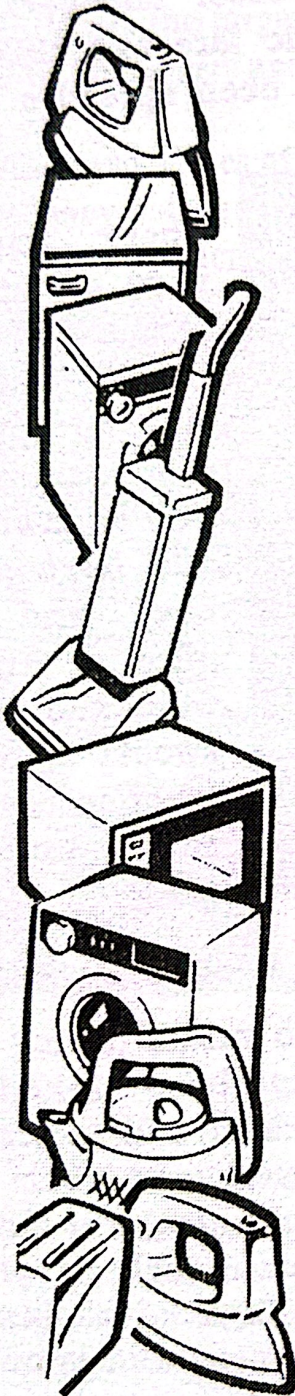

Luncheon Club: - We have not had any pub meals during the past couple of months because members have been on holiday or have been busy looking after grandchildren and generally socialising with friends and family. However, now that the children are back at school and holidays (for some) are out of the way we can again think about going out for a meal.

It is proposed we start off by going to the Lighthouse Inn in Highbridge Road; it has recently been redecorated and is under new management. Their meals, we understand, are good value so why not give them a try?

The date: - Monday 14th September at 12.00 a.m for 12.30 a.m. Betty Andrews is taking the names of those who are interested so please add your name to the list attached to the Notice Board or ring Betty on 793382.

Westonbirt Arboretum

Friday 23rd October 2009

The Strollers Group has booked a visit to the above for the last Friday before the clocks go back; this is usually a good time to see all the Autumn colours, that is if we have had a spell of good weather.

The coach will leave Bank Street Car Park in Highbridge at 10.00 a.m. arriving at Westonbirt at approx. 12.00 a.m. It will leave Westonbirt at 4.00 p.m. arriving in Highbridge at approx. 6.00 p.m.

Please be advised that Westonbirt is an outdoor venue therefore suitable clothes and shoes should be worn.

Refreshments: - There are 3 alternatives---

Maples Restaurant, next to the car park, can provide delicious hot lunchtime meals, plus drinks and snacks are served all day.

Courtyard Café, this located close by and sells tasty snacks, hot/cold drinks. Some seating is outside, some under cover.

Picnic Area, alternatively if the weather is good there is an area under the trees where you may eat the food you brought with you.

The trip is priced at: - £15.00 this includes the coach fare, admission to the grounds and driver's gratuity. A few seats are still available, if interested please contact Ken Burston as soon as possible on 782529.

My first experience of the Play Reading Group

by Janet Raine---May 2009

With some trepidation I approached the venue wondering if I would be sufficiently eloquent to join the group. However, it was a glorious sunny morning so nothing to lose, I wouldn't have to go again if I made a fool of myself. I was made welcome by Tony and Joan; we were joined by Grace, Ethel, Pat and Violet.

Although I had been told we were reading Noel Coward's Private Lives (which I had Taken out of the library to familiarise myself as I didn't know the play) but it turned out to be Blithe Spirit which I had seen performed, fortunately. I knew it to be a good comedy and was happy to accept the role of Elvira, late wife of Charles Condomine (Grace) who has appeared in ghost form, visible only to Charles following a séance performed by Madame Arcati (Joan). Needless to say the second wife of the 'hero' Ruth (Ethel) is not impressed by the appearance and fears her husband still loves his late wife.

Elvira schemes to get Charles over to the other side to be with her for all time, however, her scheme misfires and causes the demise of Ruth instead. So Charles now has two wives squabbling furiously in his presence and he implores Madame Arcati to send them away. After several unsuccessful attempts to exorcise the spirits involving Dr (Tony) and Mrs. (Pat) Bradman, who attended the original séance Madame Arcati realises the psychic who has brought the spirits back is the maid, Emily (Vi).

With this knowledge she is able to hypnotise the maid by making her concentrate her finger chanting tic toc and just as this occurs the clock in the lounge chimes 12 and we all jump with surprise and collapse in laughter! A really enjoyable morning.

North Somerset Association of U3A's----Workshop

The next Workshop is to be on Friday 23rd October at the Burnham-on-Sea Community Centre, nice and handy without the need to travel very far. It will be held from 10.00 a.m. until 1.00 p.m. and the subjects are: -

Art Appreciation--Current Affairs--Philosophy—Public Speaking? They are 'general discussion' types of courses and if you wish to attend any of these please let me (Ken Burston) know A.S.A.P.

Your fee will be paid by the Club.

Strollers Programme

The suggested strolls for September and October are:

September 11th Weather permitting it will probably be Middlemoor Water Park, a walk down to the clubhouse, coffee and then pick blackberries on the way back to the cars.

September 25th Axbridge is our destination today, a new area for some, this is an ancient little town with a lot of old buildings and, of course King John's Hunting Lodge (a building we understand appeared long after King John arrived, but it sounds good to the tourists).

October 9th This is another new venture for some strollers--Burrington Combe. On a good day there are views out over the Bristol Airport to the north, no stiles, just a slight incline at the start.

October 23rd Today is the trip to Westonbirt where there will plenty of opportunities to stroll, as long as, and as far as, you like. Let us hope the weather is good for us and that we can make the most of day.

My Tanzanian Holiday (June 2009)-----JanetHolderness

I was so happy to be back in East Africa and very much looking forward to my holiday in June. I met my other three companions at Kilimanjaro Airport, having flown from Bristol via Amsterdam. Mike and Madeline came from Manchester and were in their early 60's and Tahreen was 32; she had lived all her life in Newcastle, having a strong Newcastle accent. Her parents however were originally from Pakistan, she was a Muslim and we really hit it off. Tanzania is one of the most peaceful countries in Africa; there are over a hundred different tribes but they seem to live in harmony with each other.

We had two days at leisure in Arusha that was very welcome because of the long night flight, but we couldn't wait to start our safari.

The representative from Leopard Tours gave us our itinerary at the hotel and introduced us to our driver--Kishuma, he was a Maasai and would be driving us for the rest of the holiday.

We drove on a tarmac road from Arusha for about 100 kms (the road had been built in the last 5 years) and then turned off for the Ngorongoro Crater onto a very bumpy, pot holey dirt road for another 60 or so kms. The vehicle was a 4-wheel drive 8 seater and the roof could be opened up when in the game reserves. On the way we bought 3 doz 2-litre bottles of water to last for the rest of the journey, actually we had over estimated.

We arrived at Sopa Lodge late afternoon. What a spectacular and stunning view it had overlooking the crater floor, about 2500 ft below. The rim is over 7,000 ft above sea level so it can be quite cold in the early mornings and evenings. The lodge was very luxurious, the rooms extremely spacious, especially the bathrooms. This is the only lodge on the south side of the crater rim; the others overlook the north side (I think there are 5 in all). There were also various camping areas and other basic accommodation.

The Ngorongoro Crater is sometimes referred to as the eighth wonder of the world; it is huge being about 12 miles across and is very green with plenty of wildlife. Access into the crater is by vehicle only although some Maasai are permitted to graze their cattle there.

After breakfast the next morning we went on our game drive down into the crater, we saw a white rhino with calf in the distance, a Kori Bustard, Crown Cranes, Maribu Stork (a type of vulture), elephant, wildebeest, zebra and plenty of flamingoes on the lake. We were very satisfied with our morning drive and got back to the lodge for lunch about 1.30. The afternoon was spent on a walk at the top of the crater with our guide Augustus; it was very hot and we did not see anything---not even any insects. I think every living creature was in the shade, ----apart from us humans!

We walked for about 2 hours and became very hot and tired, Tahreen, although the youngest amongst us, was really flagging and admitted that she never took any exercise! Augustus said he knew a short cut back to the lodge and took us through quite dense undergrowth; it got more dense as we progressed through it. Also we couldn't see where we were walking and I trod in some monkey dung, there was also cow dung to look out for plus many stinging nettles. Eventually we had to go back the way we had come, as there did not seem to be a way through; we arrived back at the lodge by going through the staff quarters. They have their own little bar and their quarters looked quite comfortable. We were glad to be back in time for afternoon tea and cakes in the lounge area but felt sorry for Augustus because he had about a 2 hour walk back to his village; we clubbed together and gave him a good tip.

We had a good dinner and an early night because we were setting off quite early next morning for the Serengeti; it is a 5 hour drive over another very dusty, bumpy road. During our journey we saw some spectacular scenery over the escarpment and passed several Maasai settlements at the craters' edge. On leaving the crater we stopped at the tomb of Michael and Bernard Grzimek, a father and son that did so much for conservation in the area; Michael died very young whilst piloting a small aircraft in the Serengeti. He was quite low and counting wildebeest when a vulture flew into the aircraft coursing it to crash; his father carried on the good work and went on to write "Serengeti Shall Not Die" a film of the book was made later.

To be continued in the next issue.

Social Scene

Those of you who may have seen "West Side Story" when it was first produced some 50 years ago may have thought that violence and gang warfare only occurred in New York and it may have been a bit 'over the top'. The gang members (the Jets and the Sharks) carried knives and, as is often the case, someone was killed.

But life hasn't changed has it? 'What goes around comes around'.

We are now in the 21st century and still the gangs carry knives, funny old world isn't it?

The show at the Bristol Hippodrome on July 2nd was very good, the scenery had been cleverly designed requiring very little alteration from scene to scene, clever!

There is a day trip to Windsor Castle on Monday 21st September, the Castle is a recognised tourist venue so be prepared for there being perhaps a few more there besides us.

The next theatre trip is to Bristol to "We will Rock You" on Wednesday 7th October—Matinee performance.

A trip is planned for October 23rd to the Arboretum at Westonbirt; this is in association with the Strollers. The details given on Page 11 and there are a few places available.

In November about 24 members are going to the Alveston House Hotel in Chester for a Tinsel and Turkey 'do', visits to Liverpool, Nantwich and of course Chester are on the itinerary.

XXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXX

The Social Group have issued a notice that refers to the pick-up points for their trips—(please see the Notice Board); for those who are unable to attend the Coffee Mornings the gist of the notice is: -

Pick-up Points--- these are to be at recognised local Bus Stops on the main bus routes through Burnham and Highbridge.

Drop off Points --- if on the return journey to either town you are able to make an arrangement with the driver for him to let you get off the coach at a place near to your home (still on the main routes) then it is entirely up to you.
