We can now confirm that the Club's 10th Anniversary Birthday Party will be on Monday 19th July at 2.00 p.m. in the Highbridge Community Hall.

All members are invited to attend and we look forward to you making it to this special event. So please make a note in your diary or on your calendar so that you do not forget.

We plan to have on show samples of the work carried out by the members who attend our Art, Card Making, Floral Art and Patchwork and Quilting Classes. Some of their work may be for sale; in any case this will be an opportunity for you all to see just how clever and artistic your friends are.

Nearer that date we will be asking for a few volunteers to help set it up. So, as they say, 'watch this space'.

Apologies to all members who turned up for the Coffee Morning on January 6th only to find the hall closed. The weather conditions on that Wednesday were atrocious, the roads and pavements were covered in snow and ice, it was considered by us to be too dangerous to expect the vast majority of members to venture out that morning with the roads and pavements in their icy conditions.

The ladies who were scheduled to 'do' the coffee that morning rang to say that they were unable to get to the Hall and initially we felt that those who did turn up could make their own. It was impossible to make contact with the members who usually attend the Coffee Morning but a number had already indicated they would not be venturing out and a decision needed to be made quickly; do we open? 'Yes or No' We decided 'No'.

We have always prided ourselves on the fact that we have never close, but this was one occasion when discretion had to be the better part of valour.

If you did take the trouble to struggle through, (we believe a few of you did hoping there would be a warm drink awaiting) and a warm hall—SORRY!

Bye-the-way, we wish to thank all the members who attended the Coffee Mornings held on 23rd and 30th December it was very gratifying to see so many of you there.

Regrettably because of the bad weather we had to cancel a few activities, namely the Art, Card Making, Skittles and Strollers. Again it was a case of trying to protect members from possible injuries due to falls etc.

New Age Kurling Group?

Surprise! Surprise! We can, at last, advise that we have made some progress in setting up this new group. We now have a set of Kurling Equipment and at recent Coffee Mornings members have tried out this new sport and, from the comments made, have enjoyed the experience.

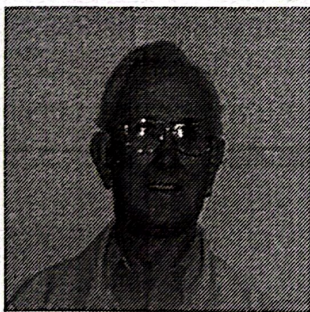

There are no complicated instructions to understand, as with similar games it requires just a little common sense. Details about this new group e.g. when and where it will be played etc are on Page 7 so if you are interested in taking it up please spend a few minutes reading the relevant information.

The Annual General Meeting

This will be held in the Community Hall on Wednesday 19th May before the usual Coffee Morning.

Last year there was apparently some confusion concerning the date of this meeting and it was proposed that all future Annual General Meetings would be held on the THIRD Wednesday in May, this was seconded and unanimously accepted.

Your current Committee will be standing down prior to the A.G.M. and its members will need to decide whether or not they wish to stand for re-election. The present Committee comprises: -

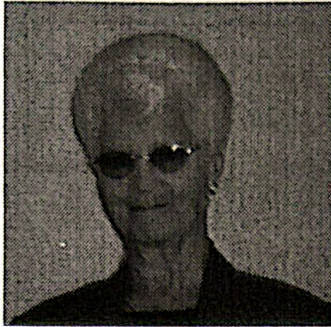

Tony Webb--Chairman, Tony's term of office expires this year, he has now served the 3 years as laid down in our constitution.

Fay Burston Vice-Chairperson; Fay was one of our founder members (Vi Chick, another) who were asked back in 1999 to look into the possibility of forming a U3A in Highbridge. The Burnham U3A was getting too large and by forming an additional club it would help to relieve the pressure. They did a good job because we are now coming up to our 10th Anniversary.

Please see Page 5 for remainder of the 2009/10 Committee.

The remaining Committee members are: -

Beryl Bryant

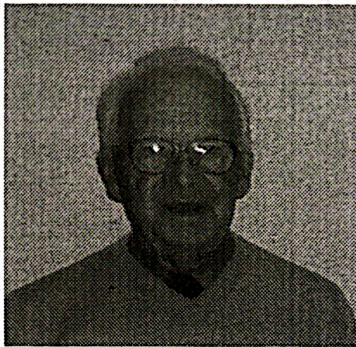

Carole Loveridge

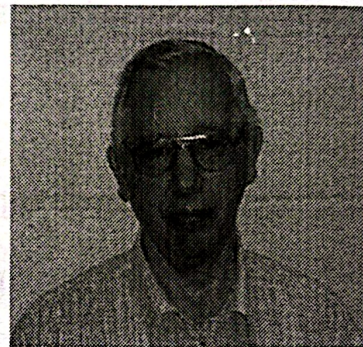

Pauline Chapman
Hon. Treasurer

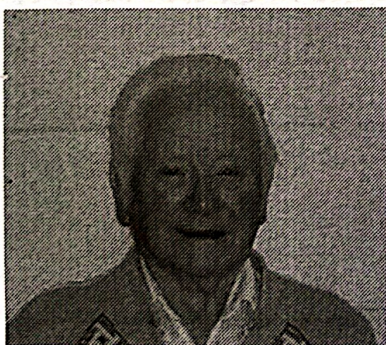

Jean Williams

Ken Burston
Hon. Secretary

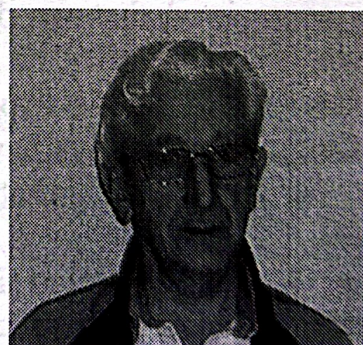

Phil Lyes

Ray Reddish

Roy Bryant
Social Group

We found it necessary some years ago to provide a picture gallery of the current Committee members because some Club members could not put names to faces.

In the May/June magazine there will be information covering who of the above are standing for re-election and pictures of those members who have been nominated for election to the new 2010/11 Committee.

Group News

Family History

A reminder to the genealogists, our new meeting place is at the Community Hall ---Room 1.

Card Making

Another reminder, the first Monday in ^{APRIL}~~March~~ is Easter Monday so NO Card Making.

Floral Art Class

Classes restart on Tuesday March 23rd (10.30 to 12.00) and, because you want to make a Spring Flower Arrangement, Jean has said please ensure you have: - Flowers of your choice, Foliage, (toothpicks if you wish to use Daffodils), baskets will be provided. A plastic cover for table 30in x 30in.

Make sure all flower ends are cut and are put into water at least 6 hours before. New members please bring small sharp knife and secateurs.

Patchwork/Quilting

Class every Tuesday; check with Ann Lismore to see if there is a vacancy.

Crochet Group

We have recently learned that some members are interested in learning how to crochet and following our announcement to this effect we received about a dozen names. As a result we can advise that at the Coffee Morning on 10th March there will be a meeting in Room 3 to discuss the forming of a group, so would those members who are interested please note and come along with ideas and suggestions on how we set the group in motion.

Board Games

It is appreciated that we do have a Board Games Group that meets on a Tuesday afternoon after the Keep Fit Class, but it is also understood that a few members would like the opportunity to play chess or draughts or similar during the Coffee Morning. We have made a few games available and are anxious to hear your comments on what you think of this extra facility.

Social Groups' suggested trips for 2010: -

Westminster Abbey-----Canal trip (Horse drawn) -----Dartmouth
Bristol HTV studios-----Tynesfield House-----Eden Project
St Fagans Rural Life Museum-----Stratford on Avon---Berkeley Castle
American Museum & Priors Park

Please let the Social Group have your comments re interest, plus alternative ideas.

Sandy Martin

Sadly, Sandy lost her battle against cancer on the 1st February 2010.

She was a warm, loving, caring person, who was always smiling and cheerful.

She would do anything for anyone. An example of her thoughtfulness was her famous mince pies which she baked by the dozen for friends and neighbours every Christmas.

Sandy enjoyed the U3A Coffee Mornings, catching up every week on what each of us was doing and putting the world to rights.

She was also a keen skittle player, playing for two teams. Her other interests were line dancing and singing with the Coastline Singers.

Sandy will be greatly missed by her husband Bernard and her children and grandchildren.

She was a true and loyal friend. I am proud to have known her.

New Kurling Group

Some time ago a member suggested we look into the possibility of trying a new activity, indoor curling? We had never heard of it but did some research and have now purchased the required equipment; and over the past few weeks a small group of members, those who were obviously interested, have tried it out after our weekly Coffee Morning. At present we possess only one set but if the game/sport proves to be popular it is our intention to obtain an additional set.

About 30 members indicated that they were interested in taking up the sport so would they please now contact Stan Vousden-White (781567) who kindly has volunteered to get the proposed group up and running he will be available at the Coffee Morning.

Proposed set-up

Start: -First proposed play-day.....Wednesday 10th March @ 12.00 a.m. Then on the 1st and 3rd Wednesday in the month.

Initially we propose to play for one hour from 12.00 a.m. until 01.00 p.m.

The fee will be £1.00

The venue will be the Community Hall and the kitchen will be available should you wish to have a coffee/tea (at normal prices) and you could bring something to eat whilst playing if you wish.

The introductory 'games' recently played by a few members have show that it is quite an easy sport and once you get the hang of delivering the 'stones' at the right strength the target is easily reached.

All able-bodied and disabled persons and youngsters can play ---in fact persons of all ages are able to play New Age Kurling.

Skittle Party

The Annual Party held on 18th December was attended by 21 including, Sallie Park who we have not seen recently because of receiving treatment for cancer dropped in for about 90 minutes. After two hands of skittles Susan Mount won the cup for the highest score on Party Day; Brenda Hooper won the cup for the years highest total score. The Xmas Hat competition, about 15 had entered, was won by Dot Tozer for the ladies and Pete worthy won for the men? Following the quiz came a very good buffet that was enjoyed by all and the party ended at roughly 4 o'clock.

Caring at Christmas –2009Janet Holderness

Once again June Adamson and I went to Little Bishop Street, St Paul's in Bristol on Christmas Day to help with the homeless at the shelter. Janet Raine also came with us this year.

From St John's Church, Highbridge, June had collected a fair amount of food and A S D A in Highbridge was also very generous in giving food, toiletries etc.

On our arrival we had a briefing and were told that a 42 year old man (of whom the shelter had details) and had been missing for four years had walked into the shelter the day before and was now re-united with his family.

June and I were out mixing with the guests in the day room this year. They were all very well behaved; there was no one drunk or violent. We were both kept quite busy, with June assisting a volunteer in cutting the guests hair and myself doing various jobs such as mopping up spills and giving out warm clothes if needed etc. we also chatted to some of the guests, or rather they chatted to us. They were so pleased that someone had taken the trouble to sit and listen to them. One of the guests was a young lady of 17 who had been abused by her father and had been beaten by her boyfriend; she looked very vulnerable. We believe the Charity has a scheme called Night Stop for people under 18 so she would have had somewhere to stay that night.

I was talking to a young man called Graham who had become homeless through no fault of his own and had lived in the woods for a year making his own shelter.

He now had accommodation and does a lot of charity and volunteer work, so is getting his life back together.

There weren't so many guests as last year; however, we still served 115 Christmas dinners with all the trimmings.

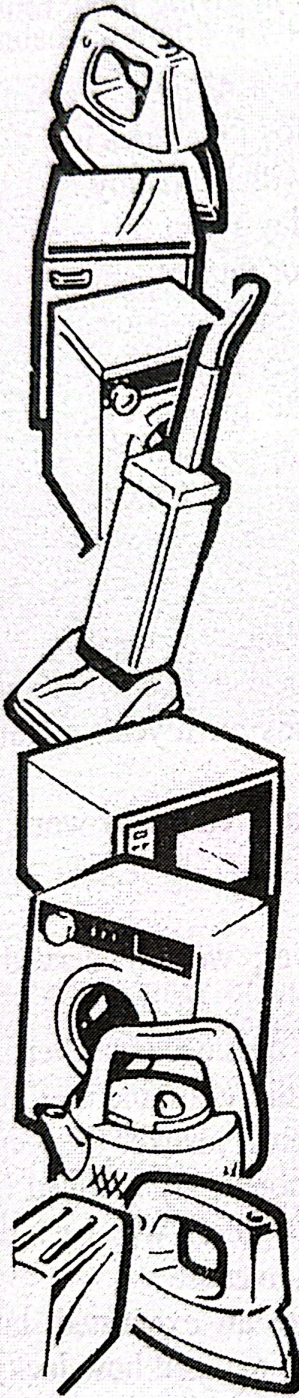

Dogs are not allowed into the shelter but are tied up outside. However, there were two very young puppies that were brought into the vestibule and looked after by volunteers who fed them and they were given a blanket to sleep on. Janet Raine was kept busy in the kitchen, this she thoroughly enjoyed being very pleasantly surprised at how well all the volunteers got on with each other, all different ages and each doing their bit for the common cause.

The shift of 4 hours went very quickly and we were all exhausted, but so exhilarated and satisfied with our days' work. We also realized how lucky we are to be able to go home to a comfortable place to live and to know that we have good friends and people who care about us; anyone can become homeless or lonely through no fault of their own.

We will definitely go back to Bristol again next Christmas to help.

Good Samaritans!

Over the past few months we have experienced some atrocious weather (not Somerset weather at all) and it has proved difficult for a few of our members to go about their normal routines, shopping etc. As a result the Good Samaritans among us braved the elements and have seen to it that their neighbours (our members included) have been looked after. On behalf of the members that were affected, I have been asked to issue a big and very genuine THANK YOU.

For instance the lady in West Huntspill who went out in the snow and icy conditions to get important commodities, bread milk etc. for many of her more elderly neighbours. It may be called being a good neighbour, but her actions were a lifeline and they were all very appreciative of the lady's kindness and thoughtfulness.

Another couple, both very longstanding members, found the help afforded to them by two other members to be 'beyond the call of duty'. "They came round, cleared the snow and did numerous jobs for us, we could not thank them enough".

A big 'Thank you' all who ventured out to do little acts of kindness for your friends and neighbours, it is very much appreciated in this current climate of 'me! me! me!' all the time.

The Strollers' Tale?

The strolls are not just about taking a little exercise and enjoying the lovely Somerset countryside but when possible we finish at a cosy establishment that serves refreshments. There are times when events can sometimes cause an interesting diversion to what might be considered as ordinary, as it did on Friday January 22nd.

On Friday 22nd January the Strollers had planned to visit Poet's Corner in Clevedon but because it had rained all the previous night and was still raining heavily at 10.00 a.m. they (the stalwarts who had turned out) decided to visit the Cheddar Garden Centre. There they would partake of some refreshment and, if it stopped raining, go for a stroll in Cheddar. We set off in three cars, two via the A38, the third, needing to pick up another passenger (making 4 in all) decided to go via Mark and Wedmore.

Unfortunately it had rained even more in that area because en route they drove into a stretch of road that was well and truly flooded. Fortunately?, a young man driving the car in front of them had also become flooded and had 'called a friend for help'. The friend arrived, complete with tractor.

"Sir Lancelot" suggested that instead of first towing him out, he and "Sir Galahad" should first 'save' our ladies and help them get on their way.

The car's engine was now obviously damp, but he got it running again and our ladies continued on their journey to the Garden Centre where they related their tale to four Strollers who had preceded them.

The two 'Knights' had then returned to retrieve "Sir Lancelot's" car.

The story did not, however, finish there; upon leaving the Garden Centre they turned right instead of left, continuing along the A371 being assured by passengers "it's alright, we'll come to the main road (A38) soon". The next landmark they recognised on their 'Scenic route' was Wells.

Their run back to Burnham via Glastonbury along the A39 was very enjoyable I believe.

So you can appreciate that the strollers do not just go strolling, oh! no! They get up to all sorts of tricks—unintentionally perhaps.

000000000000

Last October the Strollers organised a day out to Westonbirt Arboretum to see the trees in their Autumn colours, this trip was obviously enjoyed because a request has been made for another trip. This is to be in May so that the trees/shrubs may be seen in their Spring blossoms, so if interested please let Ken Burston know as soon as possible. Cost of £15.00 covers entry to Westonbirt and coach. See back Page for preliminary details.

Strollers Programme

Due to circumstances beyond their control the Strollers' planned strolls for the last two months did not take place so the suggested programme for the next two months includes some of the missed strolls. Although the stroll planned for January 22nd did not take place it did produce a very interesting morning. The suggested strolls for March and April are:

March 12th We have not been to Bawdrip for some time and if it were wet the stroll would be along the riverbank to Patchey Bridge, it is a hard surface.

March 26th A stroll out on the Levels at Catcott Lows, weather permitting this may prove to be an interesting outing.

April 9th Another attempt at getting to Poets Corner, Clevedon? The weather may be kinder to us in April, it is worth a try.

April 23rd A return to Sharpham has been requested, this stroll takes in the old railway line and we finish for refreshments at the Tea Room, if it is open.

A Tale of Two BagsPhyllis Walsh

Last week I had a telephone call from my recently widowed sister who lives in a London suburb. Because she has never learned to drive she is totally dependent on public transport and has about a mile to walk to and from her bus stop. She had been shopping using her shopping trolley and on her return journey to the bus stop two young females closely followed her. Feeling apprehensive about their proximity she stood aside to allow them to pass her, which they did; feeling relieved she continued on her journey home.

On her arrival she looked for her handbag to get her door key and found it to be missing. She then realised what must have happened; as the two females had passed her they had stolen her handbag with all its contents from her trolley, they included her bankbook and credit cards. She went to her next-door neighbour who had one of her door keys and was able to get into her house. She telephoned the police to report the incident then telephoned her bank who said money had already been taken from her account. Fortunately she has a son who dealt with the legal side, but she could ill afford the loss of cash and feels very nervous about going out on her own again.

I would like to contrast her experience with something that happened to myself last week.

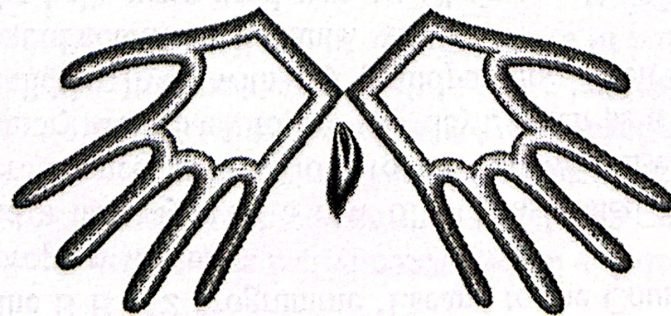

I go swimming twice weekly at our Burnham Pool and usually put my gear in a duffle bag; as I also needed to get some shopping I had taken a handbag. After swimming I was waiting for my friends who kindly gave me a lift in their car back to Highbridge. On arrival at Highbridge I realised I did not have my handbag; my friends offered to go back to the swimming pool, but they are very busy people and I thought it was unfair of me to put them to any inconvenience, so I went hurriedly home. I was hoping my husband would take me straight back to the pool, but he was dealing with a problem on our elderly car and it could not be used. He telephoned the pool and the staff said that the handbag had been found and was safe.

My daughter, who also lives in Highbridge, had cycled over to see me and she offered to cycle to Burnham to collect it; this she did and when she came back I found that all the contents were there. On my next visit to the pool I will enquire whether the finder has left a phone number or address so that I can thank them.

It gives out a warm feeling knowing that there are kindly helpful people in our community and I wish it were more widespread.

Christmas Bells!Phyllis Walsh

I was watching the B B C 2 programme 'Escape to the Country' and saw the inside of an old property in Kent.

The entrance had a hallway with a row of old fashioned bells fixed to the coving, these were connected to various rooms and were used to summon the servants. My memory went back to pre-war days, when as a child my parents and their five children lived with my grandparents. Their house possessed 'servants bells' but of course no servants.

The only time the bells were used was on Christmas Eve when we children were told to wait in another room and listen for the bells on Father Christmas's Sleigh. Because he had to call on many children we might have a long time to wait, but we must not go out of the room or Father Christmas would not come. We did as we were told and after hearing the bells went to bed. In the morning we found our presents from Father Christmas.

This went on for several years until my brother, who was the eldest child 'spilled' the beans and our exciting anticipation was over.

The house was still occupied by my parents and as my generation married and had children the tradition was still kept for a few more years until eventually the house became too big for my parents and they moved to a smaller property with NO BELLS.

Holistic Weekend

The advert on page 15 this is again included in this magazine at the request of two of our members who have sponsored this event and the advert. They belong to Moose International and the event is being held at the Moose Centre in Winscombe.

It is a two-day Festival of all things Holistic; healing, reflexology, aromatherapy, Indian head massage, crystals, aura photos, etc. There are also Jewellery and Craft Stalls.

The Festival will be clearly signposted from the A38; it opens at 10.30 and runs until 16.30 on both Saturday and Sunday.

All proceeds going to Bluebell Cancer and Mooseheart Welfare.

As most of you probably know I recently had an argument with Breast Cancer and one day my specialist had a tantrum about women who continue to use two everyday hygiene products that we take for granted.

Firstly, Spray Deodorants, we use them because they are fast drying and do not mark our clothes; but many of these sprays contain a degree of aluminium, which we really need to avoid. Change to a roll-on deodorant and only use the barest amount needed.

Secondly, Talcum Powder, we all love to puff on the nice perfumed powder, especially after a shower; but talc is very fine and can clog up the pores so stopping the skin from breathing. So do take care when using under the arms or around the breast area.

I no longer use talcum at all.

Many of us are fed up these days of being told what we can or cannot do. Most of you will never, ever, have a problem with these two things but I felt that I needed to tell you about them, then you can make your own choice about the possible risks.

The Publication of this Magazine.

Over the past months I have received a number of write-ups from members and most have been included in recent issues. If your effort did not appear, don't despair it will, it is just a matter of having sufficient space available in order to give the write-up justice and, most important, get it noticed.

Recently we have had good holiday stories from Janet Holderness, about her trip to Africa and from Ron Fulcher on his visit to Nepal. At the end of 2009 Carole Loveridge, with her friend, spent a couple of months travelling through China, Tibet and Nepal on a "Journey to the Land of Snows". Carole has kindly provided me with a write-up on their trek across these countries and it will be issued as a supplement to the May/June magazine.

Once upon a time we had a small 'Creative Writing Group' but interest waned and it ceased to function, there have been hints from time to time that we should try to raise interest again. However, although we do not have an official 'Creative Writing Group' we do have a group that 'Writes For Pleasure'.

How else do you think I get the excellent accounts of holidays, activities and other interesting facts/incidents that frequently appear? I am most grateful to the contributors for taking the time to prepare write-ups for me. (There are six in this issue).

To those of you who surf the net may I draw your attention to www.capturehighbridge.co.uk take a look.
