Editorial

The Annual General Meeting has been 'done and dusted' for 2012, we were all welcomed by Chairman Tony who thanked those present for attending this important annual meeting. A good attendance it was too, being roughly a third of the membership. For the sake of those who did not attend, it may be a good idea to give a brief rundown of what happened.

Treasurer (Carole Loveridge) ran through the audited accounts explaining where we had spent funds and why; the present financial situation is healthy and this enables us retain our Annual Membership Subscription Fee at £7.00 for 2013.

Unfortunately because costs are continually on the increase (regrettably, our own personal incomes do not increase at the same rate) it is possible the Fee will need to be increased at the next A G M; something the new Committee and our Treasurer will have to decide.

Next was the Secretary (Ken Burston) he started by thanking Phil Lyes, (Phil has recently resigned from the Committee), for all the work he has done whilst serving the Club. Phil had spent a term as Chairman and for some years has been the Group Leader of the Tuesday Art Group. Thank you Phil, no doubt you will be returning to the fold when your health has improved

The Secretary confirmed that our Groups are thriving and members are well pleased with the way we do things. We have a new Group (Beading) starting on Monday next at Southwell House, the announcement that this group was about to start generated an influx of new members, that can't be bad! During 2011 we did acquired two new Groups one being Creative Writing that has, at last, restarted after much effort by the few enthusiasts. The other new Group was Somerset Village, this group has introduced a number of members to villages within the County that they have not previously visited and support is growing.

In the May/June issue of the magazine it was hinted that there may be an announcement about another group being resurrected because of the mounting interest shown. We are pleased to say that three of our ladies are attempting to re-start our Theatre Group.

Their first venture into the 'entertainment field' is a trip to the Weston Playhouse to see "Calendar Girls" on Saturday 1st September. It will be a matinee performance, the coach leaving Highbridge at 1.15 pm.

The cost, including the coach and front circle seats, is £16.50.

The Leaders of this new Theatre Group (Diane Barnard and Brenda Clapp) were certainly surprised by the immediate response to this new venture. Whether it was because the show they picked---Calendar Girls---or there has been a thirst for some more trips to shows. It was 'sold out' within about three weeks; perhaps it is because a number of well-known actresses are appearing on stage in the 'nude', only time will tell!

I believe the next show will be in the autumn, 'so watch this space'.

The Secretary wound up by reminding members that he would like someone to put themselves forward to be his 'assistant' we need to find someone who is prepared to learn a little about the 'business' side of the Club. (Since the A G M a volunteer has been found in Barbara Croker and she will be learning a little about what makes the Club tick)

The meeting then dealt with the 'Election of Committee Members', with Phil Lyes resigning we needed to find a replacement, however, we have three nominations. To avoid the need to vote for just one replacement it was decided to accept all three onto the Committee. Our Constitution permits us to co-opt two members, so the vacant position on the Committee will be filled by one of the nominees and the two remaining nominees will continue to serve as co-opted members.

It is felt that we should not deter any member from putting his/her name forward when the continuity of the administration of the Club is at stake; volunteers are very rare these days so we must grab the opportunity whilst it is available.

The three nominees were Barbara Croker, Billy Conibeer and Sally Williams, their interest in the Club is very much appreciated and we hope they will benefit from the experience. I know the Club will, because the knowledge they obtain whilst sitting in on Committee Meetings will be invaluable to us all.

That was about it, the only other matter discussed was what local Charity do we support during 2012. It was unanimously agreed that, as and when the Club decides to make a donation, it will be to the Highbridge Dream Scheme. We will continue to provide financial support to the Highbridge in Bloom Group so that flowers/plants may be purchased for the 'U3A of Highbridge Planter' outside Alpha House.

The meeting closed at 10.55 am; the next will be on Wednesday 15th May 2013 at 10.30 am.

Editorial (further continuation)

The Committee held its first full meeting following the A G M recently and elected the Club's new officers.

Tony Webb still has two years of his three year term to go, Fay Burston did not wish to stand for re-election as Vice-Chairperson, it was therefore necessary to find a new one. Ray Reddish proposed and Ken Burston seconded Bernard Martin and Bernard was duly elected.

Carole Loveridge was prepared to remain as Treasurer; she has done a sterling job in sorting out our finances and received a vote of thanks.

Ken Burston is again Secretary and, further to his request at the A G M, an assistant has been found, namely Barbara Croker; she has agreed to think it over and may possibly fill this important position.

Jean Williams will be Membership Secretary for another year

The remainder of your Committee comprises:

Fay Burston, Billy Conibeer, Pat Clipstone, Pearl Price, Ray Reddish and Sally Williams.

Your Committee for 2012 has been set up and is ready to give you all the service you deserve. If you have something you wish to discuss or you feel something is not correct don't hesitate to contact any one of the foregoing. We are here to ensure you have a good time in the Club and we welcome your comments.

Regarding the A G M, I have a question:

Why is it whenever we hold our Annual General Meeting some members make a point of not attending?

I get the feeling they think someone is going to nominate them for some job or other and they consequently 'chicken out'.

The meetings do not last very long, this year it was just 25 minutes, so it does not take up much of the usual Coffee Morning activity; there are never any long speeches, no-one is ever singled out or asked to undertake any specific task or, perhaps do their share of making the coffee on Wednesdays for their colleagues.

It is, of course, appreciated they may have something very important to do, but why is it always when we hold the A G M; each year it always appears to be the same members. Funny!!!

Group News

Beading Group

This new group got off to a good start when about 12 turned up for the first session. Jessie was obviously pleased with the outcome, if you are interested it meets at Southwell House on the THIRD Monday in the month, the classes commences at 10.00 am and lasts for 2 hour.

The Group Leader is Jessie Maddox. 01278 782786

Card Making Group

The spate of Bank Holidays this year it has upset the schedules for Card Making Classes; they invariably include a Monday the first Monday in a month is the day for Card Making. We have had 3 so far this year, Easter, May and Diamond Jubilee, the class should now be back on track.

This brings me to an announcement about Christmas Cards for 2012.

Most members are aware that the Club last year, did produce a selection of Christmas Cards designed, printed and produced by members. They proved to be very popular; so much so that a few of us worked a lot of overtime to get the orders filled.

Well, for reasons only they know, the Card Makers have requested (yes, they did) that the Art Classes paint a selection of pictures having a Christmas theme. These to be available by the end of August, the Card Makers will then select those they think are the most suited, these will be scanned and printed leaving sufficient time for the production for Christmas. Good luck!

This will be a 'tidying up' of loose ends meeting and the first 'taster' will be on Friday 27th July from 10.00 am until 12.00 am at Southwell House, if it is successful we will arrange for it to become a regular activity.

The Tea Break

Sylvia Shepherd

Recently, during a period of warm sunshine we decided to take our lunch break in the garden. Patio table already in place, we hastily grabbed our two folding canvas chairs and began our lunch. Both chairs were old, one I had bought from a friend the other had belonged to Malcolm's -- my husbands' -- mother so was in deed old.

We enjoyed our lunch and all was well until Malcolm reached forward to take his cup of tea from the table and, bringing it to his lips, experienced a daunting sensation. As he did so, nudging the canvas of his seat in the process, this proved too much for the old lounge, which promptly split.

With a raucous shout, Malcolm's buttocks slid swiftly through the seat structure and he was pinned; legs poking upward, immovable. In addition the tea he was about to drink tipped and bespattered his face and neck. Fortunately he was wearing his glasses so none of the liquid entered his eyes. Instead however, each lens sparkled with a pool of beverage rendering him temporarily blind.

This sight was so amazing; I was instantly torn between laughter and concern, but rushed to his aid, whilst at the same time choking back a chuckle, to ascertain his injuries. Luckily none and by this time he too was giggling, hopelessly trapped.

The problem remained however, how to free him? It was considered at best I should tip him side wards to allow him to wriggle himself free. This he did with much heaving and straining, accompanied by me pushing and laughing at his predicament, relieved that he was still fit enough to carry on with the decorating.

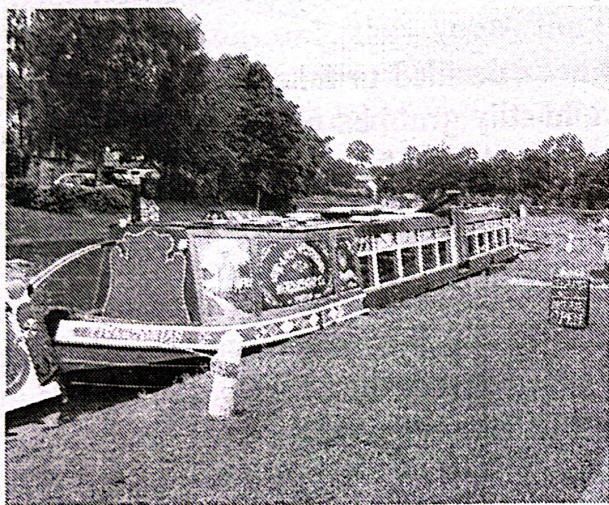

'O'h what a lovely time we had the day we went on: -

Tiverton Canal Trip

The weather, prior to the Club's boat trip on the Great Western Canal, had been diabolical and when assembled on the appointed day to await the coach it had not improved. We were somewhat disappointed, however, as everyone agreed, if our Queen can do it, we can; so "get just wet and carry on"

It was raining heavily when we set off so it was agreed we call at a Garden Centre en route to take a break for coffee and thus avoid the need to hang about for a long wait at Tiverton Wharf. We did get rather wet dashing from and, eventually back to, the coach but carried on and arriving at the Wharf a little before our due time. This did, however, give us the opportunity to tuck into our pre-packed lunches, and, at the same time, hoping against hope that it would stop raining before we had to leave the comfort of the coach.

We left the coach at 2.00 and believe it or not it was now only a slight drizzle and by the time the 'elf 'n safety' instructions were over and the 'captain' let us get aboard his craft it had actually stopped raining. We settled down for a two and a half hour relaxing cruise, the bar was open to sell various beverages, including intoxicating types, and some took advantage of the warm drinks that were available.

We were told to look out for a variety of wildlife, young swans, ducklings, moorhens etc. "you might be lucky and see a kingfisher; (we didn't)". With help from the crew the horse took the strain and we set off at a steady two and half miles (or is it knots?) an hour. Our 'Horsepower' comprised a part Suffolk Punch/Shire steed called "Taffy", who had a weakness for Polo mints.

It was very relaxing, cruising along, no throbbing engines just the slap of water against the side of the boat and of course the chatter of the Homo sapiens that were on board. We did see some wildlife, mainly ducks and moorhens, but a swan with signets did cross our bows late in the voyage. (Continued)

Upon reaching the 'terminus' the horse was unhitched and an attempt was made to turn the narrow boat around; being a long boat it almost filled the canal making the manoeuvre difficult, a fresh breeze also got up making things even more difficult.

On completion of the turn round we docked for a while, enabling the passengers to stretch their legs and for our means of propulsion "Taffy" to have his fill of Polo mints. Upon re-embarking the 'captain' asked everyone to be quiet for two minutes when we cruised through Snake Wood so that we could experience and appreciate the silence. The only sounds were the songs of the birds; it was surprisingly quiet and peaceful, unfortunately when the two minutes expired we soon returned to the hubbub of everyday life.

Our cruise and communion with nature came to an end far too quickly but it had stayed dry for us and everyone had enjoyed the afternoon. On arriving back at the Wharf we disembarked and, as if by magic, it started to drizzle again; but we just didn't care.

The return journey was uneventful, we all relaxed and the coach dropped us off at Highbridge on schedule at 6.00 pm.

Thank you Vour and Carole for arranging this trip for us (on the day Carole had been unable to join us), Sue, Vour's deputy on the day did a good job too.

The Strollers were 'captured' by a crew of Cornish Pirates recently on their way home from their Friday morning stroll.

Forth-coming Trips

The next "Away Day" is to Brixham on Thursday 2nd August.

Brixham is, as you know, a small fishing in Devon; it is built around the harbour and is hilly.

The harbour is a dock for the fishing trawlers, but this activity has been greatly reduced over the past 50 years. A replica of Sir Francis Drakes ship the Golden Hind is permanently moored in the harbour.

If the weather is kind to you there are many attractions around the town and, if you are energetic, some good walks down toward the sea and shore line.

The final "Away Day" is to Bristol on Thursday 13th September, this trip includes a visit to the S. S. Great Britain or, if you are that way inclined a spot of shopping in Cabot Circus. The history of the S S Great Britain has been well documented and there is a lot to see on this great ship, you will certainly enjoy this all-weather award winning attraction; you might also see the 'Matthew' the replica of Cabot's ship..

Strollers Programme

The strolls selected by the group for the next two months are: -

- | | |
|-------------------------|--|
| July 13 th | Lower Maunsel Lock—Bridgwater Canal |
| July 27 th | Brean Down—Up or Down –Your choice? |
| August 10 th | Edington—a new area to stroll |

Jubilee Raffle

Kevin Gainford

As members gathered for their Wednesday Coffee Morning it soon became clear that this was no normal Wednesday, it was the day of the Jubilee Raffle.

Over the last few weeks, members have been working hard producing prizes and selling tickets for the Jubilee Raffle in aid of 'Hounds for Heroes'; the charity that provides trained assistance dogs for those service men and women who have been seriously injured in the line of duty. They have returned from war zones after being injured to a degree that now prevents them from leading, what to us, is considered to be a normal life. Such everyday activities like picking something up, posting a letter, reaching items off shelves or even answering the front door or a telephone are no longer possible.

Lorita (Crochet Group Leader) said "When we planned the Jubilee Raffle we thought we might raise £30.00 though it would have been great to raise £50.00. However, due to the generosity of our U3A members we were astonished to find the total reached a fantastic £112.20. We never found out where the mystery 20p came from"

A table had been set aside to display the prizes; it soon became clear that because over 30 prizes had been made and donated one table was not big enough. Thanks to the wonderful efforts of the Crochet Group and their hard work, plus the very much appreciated donation of two water colour paintings from Joy, Fay's handmade cards, mittens made by Phyllis and lovely patchwork items from Pearl and Paddy.

Just before the draw Lorita managed to round up most of those who had made or donated their work for a group photo.

Congratulations to all the winners who looked pleased with their prizes, however, there was a general sense of disappointment because Billy Conibeer could not be persuaded to wear his prize of a crocheted red vest top.

Lorita said "I am certainly extremely grateful for the fantastic final total and I am sure the Hounds for Heroes will be very happy to receive their cheque, it will be put to good use and will make a difference to someone's life".

A Guide for Consumers (Continued from an earlier magazine)

There was more to his subject than we had space for originally so the following now completes the advice given in the publication.

Buying Goods

When you buy something in a shop or street market you and the seller are making a legal contract.

If you need to make a complaint later on, it is the seller of the goods—not the manufacturer—who must sort it out. A manufacturer's guarantee does not affect your right to claim against the seller.

The law says that goods you buy:

Must be of a satisfactory quality and be safe,

Must not be damaged or defective unless the person selling them to you points out a fault or which would have been revealed under a pre-contract examination.

Must be fit for the purpose for which the seller knows you are buying them.

Must be as they are described by the seller, or on the package or display sign—if a shirt is said to be 100 per cent cotton—it mustn't be made of polyester.

Buying sale or 'seconds' goods.

You have the same rights when you buy something in a sale or when you buy 'seconds' goods. But sale or 'seconds' goods can be sold with a defect. If the goods have a defect that is obvious or was pointed out, you can't then ask for a refund.

Give yourself time to shop around and compare prices. Remember to check out if there are any extra costs such as delivery.

If an item is of satisfactory quality and is described correctly, retailers are under no obligation to exchange it or give you a refund (for example, if you decide you don't like the colour) although many do in the interests of customer relations.

Buying from a private seller.

You have fewer rights when buying privately. The only rules are that the seller must have title to the goods and that they must be as described—if not ask for your money back straight away.

Take someone with you to act as a witness to any conversations. Where possible, written evidence is much better. Write key features on the invoice and ask the seller to sign it. Beware of traders who pose as private sellers—this is illegal

Buying second hand goods.

You have the same rights as when buying new goods. However, the seller is not liable for reasonable wear and tear. In addition, the price and description of the item has to be taken into account when assessing whether they are of reasonable quality.

American Picnic

This is planned for Friday 20th July at Middlemoor Waterpark.

Yes, it is rather a bit of short notice but we wanted to get it in before the schools break up. (They break up on that day--- 20th July)

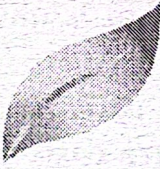

It will take the usual format, members are asked to bring along sufficient picnic food on the basis of everyone sharing what has been provided; e.g. salads, sausage rolls, pork pies, ham rolls/sandwiches, quiche and gateau. .

Most important, don't forget your knife, fork, spoon and of course a plate on which to put it all.

Middlemoor has toilet facilities and we can go indoors if it be wet; they also serve a variety of drinks. Car parking is obviously available.

If you wish to attend please let Fay Burston 782529) know and give some indication of what you intend to provide in the food line.

Finally, the start time will be 12.00 am from Highbridge Car Park.

Thank you, Phil and Pam Lyes.

The Tuesday Art Group will miss your support and guidance. Thank you for all your hard work and input over the years, it has been much appreciated. We are continuing the class as promised and hope you will join us in the winter months. New members would be welcome, we meet on Tuesday' from 1.30---4.00 pm at Southwell house.
